6. UPDATES & REPORTS
   a. Park District updates – Dan/Mark
      i. Dan – January/February mode of operations – recent snowstorm delayed some projects but they are underway now that the ground is bare. Assembling core teams to tackle different items, drive-through for 2020 Carter Lake projects is scheduled for Thursday. Goal is to identify operational inefficiencies and create solutions (trash system, growth and visitation models, misc. in-house items). Planned the 2020 training calendar for rangers. Starting to hire seasonals for the summer, now through March is the best time to apply if you know of anyone interested.

   b. 2019 Quarter 4 Board Report – Daylan
      i. Distributed DNR’s second quarterly board report. Let Daylan know of any stories or info you’d like added. Quarterly reports can be found at https://www.larimer.org/naturalresources/plans-reports-advisory-boards.

   c. Glade Reservoir recreation plan update – Daylan
      i. Daylan updated a proposal will be presented to the board for consideration in February, discussion will be focused on 1041 powers and the recreation component of the project.
      ii. Ken gave an overview of the 2017 Parks Master Plan and mentioned opportunities to expand recreation for reservoir parks in reference to Chimney Hollow and Glade. Daylan encouraged PAB to review DNR master plans before the February meeting and consider how the County might replicate a recreation experience like that of Horsetooth Reservoir or Carter Lake.
      iii. Brad Wind (Northern Water General Manager) gave an overview of Chimney Hollow as an extension of the C-BT project. Construction will begin in summer or fall of 2020, expected to be the largest civil works project in CO over the 4-year construction period. Glade is in 1041 permitting process, County commissioners will review the permit application this spring. Construction is 6-7 years out, then anticipate a 3-year build time.
      iv. Jeff Stahla (Northern Water Public Information Officer) clarified the 1041 permitting process has specific application and review deadlines.
      v. Russell mentioned BOR has hosted tours of dam sites and other infrastructure the last couple of years for PAB, it might be beneficial for Northern to do something similar. Brad agreed and explained Northern Water and BOR cooperate Horsetooth Reservoir and Carter Lake. The transfer forks below the dams are fully owned and managed by Northern, Chimney Hollow will be owned by the Northern Water Municipal Subdistrict.
vi. Daylan said DNR is working with Northern on a management plan for Chimney Hollow, more updates to come.
d. CIP update – Ken
i. FLAP grant – recently found out the review committee delayed their decision-making timeline, should know outcome in March. Scoping visit in mid-November went well.
ii. New cabins – in 2018, staff stayed in camper cabins throughout CO to develop a list of cabin specifications. The Architects Studio was hired to develop a standardized design focused on durability and insect-resistance, their design is anticipated to be built and open to the public at Horsetooth Reservoir in 2021 with the goal of replicating/adapting designs at other DNR locations.
iii. Preventative maintenance – plan is to replace water lines before FLAP grant is complete, then parking lots will be repaved.
iv. Skyview Campground – Carter Lake group campsite (formerly Biglandia) will be built in the meadow below Carter Knolls, anticipate construction to begin in fall of 2021 and hope to open to public Memorial Day of 2022. Dan will bring concept drawings to PAB soon.
v. BOR grant – received ~$200k from BOR and matched $62k of Parks funds to build semi-permanent structures for ANS inspectors.
e. Wastewater study update – Brian Abrams, Farnsworth Group (not attending)
