

Career Exploration Online Resources

Still trying to decide what to be when you grow up? If you are not sure of where to begin, try the Internet. There are several sites available to research possible careers and also to explore your interests and skills and how they relate to available careers.

Site Name	Site Address (URL)	Description
Occupational Outlook Handbook	www.bls.gov/oco/	Provides information on a variety of occupations including outlook and income.
Colorado Job Vacancy Surveys Colorado Department of Labor	http://www.coworkforce.com/LMI/WR A/vacsurv.asp	The Job Vacancy Survey is designed to provide a snapshot estimate of job vacancies in a specific area along with detailed information and analysis on accompanying wages, skill requirements and work experience.
O*NET	http://online.onetcenter.org	Provides O*NET codes and information on occupations that can assist a job seeker and/or an employer. Contains an assessment tool that matches skills with occupations and numerous links to other labor market websites, including job accommodation information for disabled workers.
Colorado LMI Gateway	http://www.colmigateway.org	Provides current labor market information and industry projections.
CareerOneStop	http://www.careerinfonet.org/	Wage and employment trends, occupational requirements, state-by-state labor market conditions, millions of employer contacts nationwide, and the most extensive career resource library online.